NICK MCKEE

The Prayer Life of the Leader

Nick is currently the Director of Vocations in Blackburn Diocese where he oversees an integrated approach to lay and ordained vocations. His passion for equipping others for missional ministry is expressed in many ways, including as Chair of the M:Power Urban Leadership project and the local ministerial experience scheme. He has a passion for education and is Chair of the diocesan multi-academy trust (MAT) and the Department of Education action learning set for Lancashire MAT Chairs. He's also Project Director for Emmanuel Theological College, the new college which will replace the three existing providers in the north west of England in September 2021.

Prior to his current post, Nick was in parish ministry for ten years and in international business for ten years before that. Nick is married to Jo, who is also ordained, and they have one daughter.

Nick says the most interesting thing about him is Jesus because nothing and no one is more interesting than the Lord himself!
